

Reiki in the Workplace

Energize Employee Wellness

Alyssa McDowell

OFTHEETHER.COM

Reiki is an ancient Japanese healing modality that promotes relaxation, reduces stress, and supports emotional balance. Its effectiveness and numerous benefits for individuals in fast-paced environments makes it a valuable addition to enhance your employee wellness program.

Use for:

- Wellness days
- Company retreats
- Holiday/appreciation gifts
- Health benefit

By offering Reiki in the workplace, you demonstrate your commitment to fostering a healthy work environment that values the well-being of your employees.

Providing Reiki in the Workplace can:

- Increase employee engagement
- Reduce absenteeism and health costs
- Enhance company culture
- Increase job satisfaction

Offerings:

Group Reiki Meditation and Healing Experience

Your employees will have a 45-minute retreat in-office: part guided meditation, part reiki healing. The Group Reiki Meditation and Healing Experience will provided your system with high-frequency, deep healing energies. It will remove and stabilize imbalances within your energy field while inducing feelings of deep relaxation and calm. Groups should be 25 people or less, and can be in-person or virtual.

$600 per experience

Individual Reiki Energy Healing, In-Office

Employees will experience a one-on-one Reiki Energy Healing in a private room within your offices for 30 minutes. This offering will give employees a rejuvenating respite from their normal routines as they indulge in the soothing and restorative benefits of reiki.

$600 for half-day, $1,400 for full-day
